Alessia Solofrano focuses on banking and finance law, with particular expertise in acquisition finance, leveraged finance and corporate finance. She has developed significant experience in financings related to corporate acquisitions, advising leading private equity funds on the structuring, negotiation and implementation of the debt component in leveraged buyout transactions.

She regularly advises mid-cap and large-cap companies, Italian and international private equity funds, as well as banks, financial institutions and debt funds. She also has solid experience in advising asset management companies (SGR) and real estate funds on real estate financing transactions, assisting clients in the structuring and negotiation of secured financings relating to real estate portfolios and single assets.
